

I support media diversity

The FCC was created to serve the interests of the American people, not corporate interests! If our needs are not met, then we no longer have a need for the FCC!

Do not vote in the name of the majority until the majority have heard the issue! The limit of the number of radio/TV stations that media companies can own is already too high, and the general public is just now beginning to learn of this new issue. It is your responsibility at the very least to delay this decision until the public has had a chance to weigh in on this issue. If a vote must be taken on 2 June [not likely], the notion that the general public would be absolutely against this vile plan for increasing media monopolies is not a far fetched one.

For the public's best interest, and the FCC's, RETAIN THE CURRENT OWNERSHIP RULES!
